McRae & Miller led off with a comedy bar and trapeze act that they han-dled nicely, and were followed by the Tiller Sisters in clever work as character comediennes. Novelties in the instrumental line were introduced by Luce, Bruce and May, and some lively minutes were on view when the Ten Georgia Biossoms occupied the stage with singing and plantation dancing. The Man from Italy, a one-act comedy-dramatic playlet, was attractively staged by Murray Livingstone & Co. and was succeeded by Baker & Murray and was succeeded by Baker & Murray in meritorious singin—and dancing numbers. In a grotesque comedy novelty The Three Olfans added variety to the bill, and the way Harry Crandall & Co. put on the little sketch Fundall & Co. in a Grocery Store made it one of the laughing hits of the bill.

Mayor Murphy Wields a Pick in Breaking Ground-Culmination of Long

Effort For This Line. Ground for the Boswell Avenue Prolley extension was broken Monday morning, Mayor Timothy C. Murphy, who has been the leader in securing the extension, driving the first pick in-to the highway. President R. W. Perkins of the Shore Line Electric Railway company was present and Mayor Murphy shook his hand and wished the president success in the extension after breaking the ground. Men were on hand thd the work was started at once. The extension will be a mile in length and it is expected that cars will be running in two

The need for a trolley line on Bos well avenue has been felt for a long time and work towards securing the extension was started by Timothy C. Murphy in 1909. At the December meeting of the board of trade in that year he reported on the necessity of development of the trolley lines about the city, emphasizing in particular the need in the Boswell Avenue section. At the meeting of March 15, 1910, at the instigation of Mayor Murphy the board of trade adopted a resolution authorizing the transportation committee to take steps towards the extension of lines on Boswell avenue and to the Maplewood cemetery. At that time Mr. Murphy reported that there were 232 houses on or near Boswell avenue, with 1392 residents who would benefit by the line. Property on the line he valued at $649,600 with $75,000 more of undeveloped land. Both the board of trade and the Business Men's association were active in the work to secure the extension which is about to become a reality. After his election, Mayor Murphy pressed the matter even more strongly. He is a strong believer in trolley expansion in the city and hopes to see the Maplewood extension a reality before long.

Court came in at 10 o'clock in the matter of a bond for her appearance morning, having been adjourned from in court next Saturday. The bond was last Thursday. The only case on the docket was the one against Marion by Mr. Pratt, who came to court to Morse, State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull called up the case against the woman and when she did not answer Sheriff Brown was ordered to call the bond of $800 on which she has been at lib-erty. George H. Pratt, who furnished the surety, was not present in court, and the bond was ordered forfeited.

Then the state attorney made a motion that a bench warrant be issued accused made a motion that the trial for the defendant and she be brought of the case be deferred until the next into court. Judge Greene inquired how long it would require to have the ac-cused in court and Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve told the state's attorney that it would take about a half hour. Judge Greene granted the motion and a recess was taken until 11 o'clock.

About 11 o'clock the Backus hospital ambulance drew up in front of the building and Marion Morse on a stretcher was lifted out. She was in the custody of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Draper who had been sent to get the accused. The stretcher with the defendant on it, was borne into the court room and placed on six chairs in front of Clerk Parsons' desk. The woman was swathed in blankets and only her head was visible. She was

Then the state attorney took up the give the surety. The accused was then taken away on the stretcher and taken back to Backus hospital.

The case against Mrs. Morse has been pending for several months and there has been postponement after postponement, at several terms of the criminal court. During the early part of the current term counsel for the term, but it was denied by Judge Greene, who ruled that the case must be tried at this term.

The day before the case was to be called up Mrs. Morse was removed to the Backus hospital to undergo an op-eration for hemorrhoids which was performed by Dr. W. K. Tingley. The court went on with the completion of its business and when it was finished Mrs. Morse was not ready to stand The term of the court kept open and when the patient recovered from the first operation she was operated upon for ingrowing toenails by Dr. C C. Gildersleeve.

The information has now been conveyed to the hospital authorities that if any more operations are to be performed the physician or physicians who Clerk Parsons read a long informa-tion against the woman, the reading of which occupied about ten minutes, the case and is to be informed that it would be inadvisable to perform the operation.

Thursday last court was adjourned until Monday morning, when the drastic step of presenting the accused in

At the Spiritual academy on Sunday evening May Pepper Vanderbilt, the celebrated phychic, had a large audience to hear her speak and to witness her demonstration of spirit messages, for reassignment as one of the lawyers and were not disappointed in hearing could not give it his attention now. and seeing some remarkable instances of communication through the psychic. she prefaced her spirit demonstrations upon three subjects given her from the audience, Life After Death, The Battleground of the Soul, and The Relation f Spiritualism to Socialism and Other Thoughts of the Day.

In taking up the spirit messages Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was introduced by Rev. A. P. Blinn, first took from the table on the stage an envelope bearing some initials which were recognized by a woman in the audience, but she could not identify the influence which was trying to send a communication, and It turned out in a minute that the influence was coming from a piece of paper lying next to that which the medium had first picked up. When this was ascertained and a man in the audience had acknowledged that the second paper belonged to him, he was told about a paper, which was evidently an insurance policy, which had been signed by a man by the name of Fish in '62, and the medium gave the message to write to a certain company in New York, The spirit influence of Mr. Fish, she said, told her the policy was written for $1,000, but was now worth $3,300, and it would be found wrapped up in a piece of black cloth with the disfrom a brief visit with Wauregan charge papers and the pension papers of an old soldier. A women in the audience who re-sponded to the name of Helen was given spirit advice not to put anything in the sideboard because it would go her nephew, Bishop Robert L. Paddock in the same way that the other things went. Helen acknowledged that she knew what that meant, A number of other messages were conveyed to various people in the audience, but one of the most interesting was that to a Norwich doctor in the audience. A brother physician who had passed on came back, Mrs. Pepper said, and wished to communicate to the doctor in the audience. In the spirit message given it was intimated ingly, but concluded by saying that it was all right anyway and it was too bad that even his ashes were left.

THROUGH SCOTCH SPECTACLES. How America Looks is Told by Dr Hugh Black in Y. M. C. A. Course.

Furnishing the second number in Y. M. C. A. entertainment course Dr. Hugh Black entertained a large audience in the Central Baptist church Monday evening with an address on Monday evening with an address or America Through Scotch Spectacles Keen perception and discerning observation in the speaker were appar-ent, as he pictured the contrasts of the English and American peoples, and his apt illustrations showed a real Scotch humor. He was introduced by Rev. Charles H. Ricketts.

Dr. Black in his opening remarks said that seven years ago, when he first came to this country, his task would have been much easier as he knew less and would therefore have been unhampered by the facts. He explained that he was no longer an outsider, but an American. American Temperament.

The speaker's concluding topic for discussion was the American temperament. He characterized the American as high strung and netvous, as evidenced in the rush and hustle of business life. In our haste we do many things unnecessary, and if we moved slower we would progress just as fact. One of the charming attributes of American temperament is optimism, most refreshing to a European. Yet this optimism may be unintelligence; in the land of unparalleled opportuni-ty we are wasteful of our resources, burning up the heritage of the children, destroying the wealth of the world which can never be replaced. The American is also idealistic. Europeans say we are materialistic dollar hunters. This is true on the surface, vet underneath we are not so practical as theoretic. The open-mindedness of the American is another charm to the foreigner. In Europe people are prejudiced, and it is hard to bring them to a larger viewpoint. The speaker concluded by praising the good humor of the American, even under trying conditions. He was applauded at the

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the in-dividual. It isn't Nature's way at all. Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food

They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corp-uscles and increase their blood carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful fleshbuilding elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonder-fully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money
